

Legrand is on track, in line with its guidance

Following the publication yesterday of a Dow Jones wire, mentioning that Legrand sees a slow down of revenues growth in the first quarter of 2008, the Group reminds that it is on track, in line with its guidance.

Legrand underlines that the calendar effect and the sell-in impact of new product ranges in France which both impact revenues evolution in the first quarter of 2008, together with the economic slow down, were taken into account when setting up its targets for the full year 2008.
