Environment

Charter

It is the Group's desire to continue to develop innovative solutions.
The anticipation and control of risks, as well as compliance with requirements and regulations, form the basis of our Environment approach. The Legrand Group has identified priority actions that are applied to each of its activities, with a view to promoting Sustainable Development and greater respect for the environment. This charter formally sets out the Group's commitments.

Group commitments

Integrate the environmental aspect on the Group's sites

Control pollution risks and implement proactive management of the environment on our ISO 14001-certified industrial sites. Continuously improve our performance and reduce the environmental impact of our sites.

Take into account environmental aspects from the design stage of our products, systems and solutions

Deploy an innovative eco-design approach in all of the Group's design offices, in order to measure and reduce the environmental impact of products throughout their life cycle.

Inform our customers to help them choose the best solutions

Provide our customers with clear and transparent environmental information on our products, systems and solutions, including an explanation of their environmental impact (composition, manufacture, logistics, use and end-of-life).

Offer our customers solutions that enable them to improve the energy efficiency of buildings

Imagine and design solutions that produce energy savings for residential, commercial or industrial installations.
These environmental commitments are integrated into our day-to-day activities with the involvement and accountability of all stakeholders and in compliance with our Sustainable Development approach, which aims for continuous improvement and regular communication of our progress. Furthermore, we seek to raise awareness of this Sustainable Development commitment among our partners and encourage their participation. In turn, we endeavour to always be attentive to their expectations and new practices.

Gilles Schnepp
Chairman and CEO

2013

legrand®